men of the city.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, May 29,-Miss Alice Follock, aged nineteen, has been bound over to court, charged with stealing chickens. The case seems to be a mixed-up affair. For some time John Beam, who resides near Yountsville, has been missing some of his chickens. He at last one day went to the man at Yountsville who was buying chickens, and told him that the night before he had had chickens stolen, and if any were sold to him that day to put them to themseives and he would inspect them to see if any of them belonged to him. During the same day Alice Follock, the daughter of a wealthy farmer, sold some chickens, and among them Mr. Beam recognized some of his chickens that had been stolen the night previous. The storereeper said that Miss Pollock said that the chickens had been given to her by a sister, for whom she had done some sewing. Inquiry was made and the sister denied having given away any chickens to her sister. This then led to the arrest. It is the theory of the prosecution that the chickens were stolen by other parties, and then Miss Follock sold them. The defense proved that Miss Follock was ill the night the chickens were stolen, and her father said that he helped to catch the chickens the day they were sold. Numerous parties in the same vicinity are also complaining of missing chickens, and a general upheaval is imminent.

White-Cap Outrages in Harrison County. NEW ALBANY, May 29 .- About 2 o'clock yesterday morning a gang of about thirty lawless night-riders visited Corydon, the county-seat of Harrison county. They were all mounted and masked. They went to the residence of two negro women, Jane Floy and Lucy Noyes, in the suburbs of the town, and took them from their beds, and marched them a short distance into the country. They then stripped off their clothes to the waist, and tied them face foremost to trees. The thirty ruffians then commenced their work with heavy hickory switches upon the naked flesh of the two hapless women, every lick bringing the blood. They were given fifty lashes each. When found this morning by citizens the wretched women were more dead than alive, and both were irsensible. Their bleeding and quivering backs and shoulders were terribly swollen. A few days ago a couple of stables were burned on the fair grounds, near Corydon, and the brutal White Caps pretended they suspected the two women of setting fire to the buildings. On the previous night Thomas R. Veeley, a well-known citizen of Heth township Harrison county, was taken out and severely whipped by White Caps. Veeley said they told him they whipped him because they believed him too intimate with a certain woman of the neighborhood, a charge he denies with scorn.

Farmers' Council. Special to the Indianapolis Journal. CRAWFORDSVILLE, May 29 .- The Montgomery County Farmers' Council met in quarterly convention at the court-house, to-day, with a medium-sized attendance of the farmers. A paper on "Sheep Husbandry" was read by Jasper N. Davidson. He urged the necessity of this country producing enough wool to supply the demand, and thought that such would be the case if each farmer would have at least fifteen sheep. This would also more than supply the demand for mutton. A paper was read by J. N. Fullenwider, on "The Causes and Remedy for the Depression in Business." Mrs Emma Mont McRea, of Purdue University, could not be present, and a general discussion of all the leading topics of interest to farmers took place. A recitation was given by Miss Mame Wilhite. She was thrown beneath the roller and crushed to death, her neck being broken. Death followed almost instantly. After marriage Mr. and Mrs. Hardin repaired to their country home and informed their parents of the marriage, while none of their many friends were the wiser until to-day, when it happened to leak out. They chose this manner of being married not from parental objection, but in the spirit of romance.

RECORDS OF COURT MISSING

Judge Hord, of Shelby ville, Cannot Tell What Became of His Minute Docket.

Pension Attorney Wilson Got Decrees of Which the Judge Had No Knowledge-A Deputy Clerk as an Unwilling Witness.

The continuation of the trial of Lee F. Wilson in the federal court before Judge Woods yesterday brought a good many on-lookers. There were quite a number of women from Shelbyville who were on hand as witnesses in the case, and several came with babes at the breast. The chief witness of the forenoon was Judge Kendall M. Hord, of the Shelby Circuit Court, whose testimony was chiefly noticeable for what it did not contain. He testified that his court docket had disappeared, he did not know exactly when nor in what manner, nor through whose instrumentality; but it was gone. As his examination progressed the Judge showed a painful paralysis of memory; he could remember nothing of cases nor entries therein, which led an eminent attorney to remark sotto voce that the judicial memory seemed to have disappeared along with his docket. The disappearance of this docket was made the basis for a number of questions to Dr. Thomas S. Jones, clerk of Shelby county. The Doctor appeared to know very little about the affairs of his office, his trust being placed in two deputies, Armine Chueden and Charles Fastlaben. It seemed from the testimony that books and papers were kept in a very loose way, and that prowling lawyers or almost anybody was at liberty to carry off any-thing that might be lying around loose. Mrs. Isabella Means, of Shelbyville, sisterof Mrs. Bridge, who was one of Wilson's clients, testified to going with her sister to Wilson's office ter was a widow and had not married again. She said she signed because her husband Cornelius Means, husband of the preceding witness, when placed upon the stand, said that he told Wilson he [witness] could not sign the paper with that statement in it, but Wilson said he expected to get a decree of court annulling the marriage with Bridge and that would go to Washington with the other papers. After this explanation, witness signed it. The same explanation was made to witness's wife.

The method in which Judge Hord's record was kept, as testified to by himself and Armine Chueden, deputy clerk, went to show that decrees were rendered from time to time without proper service. In Chueden's testimony it was evident he was not testifying to the same state of facts he had

"Who put the minutes on the docket?" "To the best of my recollection Judge" Hord. I never saw Mr. Wilson do the writ-ing in my life. Mr. Wilson furnished decrees in a good many cases, writing them in type-writer."
"Didn't you testify that you didn't know in how many cases, but in as many as fourmade on the judge's docket by Mr. Wilson?" "No. sir." Most of the afternoon was taken up with examining witnesses testifying to the good reputation of Lee F. Wilson in the neighborhood in which he resides. The court adjourned over for to-day, and will meet to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock. Foreman Barney, of the grand jury, will probably be placed on the stand to give evidence as to the testimony of Deputy Clerk Chueden before the grand jury.

Wants the Lot for School Purposes. John H. Furnas, trustee of Decatur township, has sued Noah McCruey for an application for a writ of assessment of damages. McCruey owns some land in Decatur township, on which is a school-house, and Mr. Furnas claims that the lot is too small for purposed improvements, which he says are necessary. In order to give the pupils ample room for a play-ground an adjoining lot, belonging, also, to McCrney, must be purchased, and Furnas asks the court for an assessment of damages, according to the provisions of the statutes

The feature of the day was the live-bird match for $25 a side between Polster and Anson, which took place during the afternoon. It was at twenty-five pigeons each, and was hotly contested throughout, Polster winning by two birds. Both mendid clever work, and were frequently applauded. Following is the score:

Anson-2211221212011101212*21110-21. Polster-121212110112212122122220-23. 2 Denotes killed with second barrel. * Denotes dead out of bounds.

Considerable money changed hands on the Polster-Anson match, the betting being even at the start. After Polster lost his first bird Anson's backers offered odds, but when the latter lost his first bird, the betting veered around in Polster's favor. After the sixteenth bird George Beck offered $100 to $40 on Polster, with no takers. The latter surprised even his intimate friends with his fine shooting. The birds were a fairly good lot and trapped well. The referee yesterday was Albert Ballweg, and Royal Robinson was the scorer. Their work was extremely hard on account of the quickness necessitated by the rapid-firing system, but they got through in a manner satisfactory

The concluding day of the tournament, beginning at 10 o'clock this morning, will be the attractive one. There are three prize shoots at fifteen blue-rocks in which the entrance is only $1. In each of these events there are eight prizes ranging in value from $1 to $10, and an excellent epportuni-ty is afforded for young shooters to capture some of the articles offered.

Killed His Antagonist with a Rifle. KINGFISHER, O. T., May 29.—While the streets were thronged with the people to-night who had been to the reception of Governor Steele, who is making a tour of the Territory, there occurred a terrible tragedy on Roberts avenue, the principal thoroughfare of the city. Joe Walsh and John A. McNeal became engaged in a quarrel over a disputed claim. Walsh was armed with a Winchester rifle, and with it he shot and killed his antagonist. The tragedy was witnessed by hundreds of people. The mob pursued the murderer, and but for the timely interference of the military he would have been lynched.

Outrageous Cruelty of Students.

HAMILTON, O., May 29,-The lady managers of the Western Female Seminary some time ago forbade the students of Miami University to visit the girls of the seminary for good and sufficient reasons. The horse was found this morning dead and fearfully mutilated. Four Miami University boys confessed to President Warfield this morning that they did the work. SHORT AND SAVAGE FIGHT.

-Billy McCarthy, of Australia, Whipped by Robert Fitzsimmons, of New Zealand

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29,-Robert Fitzsimmons, of New Zealand, defeated Billy McCarthy, of Australia, in nine rounds, at the California Athletic Club to-night, for a purse of $1,250. It was Fitzsimmons's first finish fight in this country, and the result was a surprise. McCarthy was unable to find him for more than a dozen clean blows, while the New Zealander from the start to the finish hammered his opponent at will with long-handed drives, chiefly for the head. McCarthy was battered about the face until he bled profusely. Fitzsimmons was unmarked. McCarthy was knocked down several times in the course of the fight, and at the end of the ninth round was unable to continue the fight.
